

Strategic Organizational Transformation - How to Transform Health Systems? Why Consolidation?

Understanding the requirements and realizing the benefits of having a strategy and putting it into action will be the focus of this discussion.

Date: Wednesday, 22 September 2010

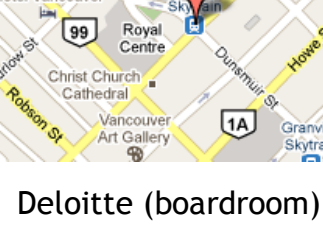

Time: 17:30-19:00

PRESENTER:
DALTON TRUTHWAITE
ASSOCIATED PARTNER
NATIONAL HEALTH CONSULTING

Fee: $5, please pay at the door.

RSVP: EHLVan-events@emerginghealthleaders.ca

Dalton Truthwaite is an Associate Partner in Deloitte's National Health Practice. Based in Vancouver, he acts as Health Leader for Western Canada. Before joining Deloitte, Dalton worked in hospital management for 13 years. He is a respected change agent with extensive experience and a solid track record in developing innovative approaches to designing and delivering client-focused solutions, aligning strategic and operational initiatives, and facilitating organizational transformation initiatives. Across these assignments, Dalton has repeatedly demonstrated strong capability to identify strategic requirements, understand service delivery and structure strengths and challenges, and identify appropriate solutions which range from operational improvements to alternative service models.

Location Details

Deloitte (boardroom)
Suite 2800- 1055 Dunsmuir, Vancouver, BC

Do you have any questions or comments? If so, email us at:

EHLVancouver@emerginghealthleaders.ca

Event sponsored by Deloitte.

Emerging Health Leaders (EHL) is a network developed for new health professionals, by new health professionals. We provide opportunities to support the development of emerging health leaders through the creation of knowledge exchange networks, educational events, mentoring relationships and informed health care and related discussions.