

The Ted Freedman Award is a self-portrait in bronze by award-winning sculptor Amy Switzer of Barrie, Ontario. Ms. Switzer created the piece while recovering from brain surgery.

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

2020 Ted Freedman Award for Innovation in Education

Longwoods Publishing, in cooperation with the Canadian Association for Health Services and Policy Research (CAHSPR), invites you to submit your 'Innovation in Education' program that advocates and enables education in health, health services or health management at a healthcare organization.

We would like to honour and recognize your outstanding contribution at CAHSPR 2020.

Submission Guidelines

This is a wide-open competition. Any individual or any group can submit. Adjudicators will be evaluating the following criteria, all weighed equally in importance:

- The value of your Innovation as an agent of change
- The evidence to substantiate the Innovation
- The outcomes to substantiate the Innovation

Entries should be a maximum of 750 words in English and submitted in Word format only. Please provide us with the project name and details, as well as your name, title, organization and contact information.

All supporting information is welcomed and should be clearly labelled.

The winner of the beautiful Ted Freedman Award will receive a certificate, exquisitely framed, and will be recognized at CAHSPR 2020 (May 26-29, 2020, in Saskatoon, SK) with an award presentation. Two (2) complimentary CAHSPR 2020 registrations and a spot to showcase a poster display of the project will also be provided.

For more information, visit www.longwoods.com/awards.

Submissions must be received by Rebecca Hart, rhart@longwoods.com, by Friday,
