Financial Disclosure/Conflict of Interest

Public trust in the peer review process and the credibility of published articles depends in part on how well conflict of interest is handled during writing, peer review, and the editorial decision-making process. Conflict of interest exists when an author of a manuscript or a letter to the editor has financial or personal relationships with other persons or organizations that could inappropriately influence (bias) her or his actions.

This questionnaire must be completed and must be signed by every author of the above-referenced work and returned to journal office at the time of manuscript submission. The above information will be used only by the Editorial Board of Healthcare Policy/Politiques de Sante. It will not appear in print or on Longwoods website.
